

Los Angeles Defeats Milwaukee In Playoff Opener, 3-2

Sherry's Hurling, Roseboro's Bat Decide Contest

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Young Larry Sherry's brilliant relief pitching and John Roseboro's sixth inning home run gave the aroused Los Angeles Dodgers a 3-2 victory over Milwaukee Monday in the opener of a best of three playoff series for the National League pennant.

The series will continue today in the vast Los Angeles Coliseum with the Dodgers' Don Drysdale (17-13) trying to close it out in two straight. Lew Burdette (21-15) will work for the Braves. Game time is 5 p.m. (EDT).

Sherry, a 24-year-old right-hander from Los Angeles, came to the rescue of wild Danny McDevitt, the Dodger starter, in the second inning. Working with the coolness of a veteran, the young man who was brought up from St. Paul in early July allowed only 4 hits in the last 7 2-3 scoreless innings.

Rain And Fog
All this fine pitching in rain, fog and heavy dew would have been wasted if Roseboro hadn't slammed a 2-1 pitch by Carlton Willey over the right field fence for his 10th home run as he led off the sixth. The blow by the Dodger catcher, who is doing a man-sized job of trying to fill the ample shoes of Roy Campanella, fell five rows into the bleachers, about 375 feet from home plate.

It looked like a long time as though the game never would get started. Ten minutes before game time, it started to rain, gently at first and then harder and harder. The ground crew pulled the tarpaulin over the infield while the players sat down on the bench to wait it out.

Finally the rain let up and the umpires came out of the league to confer with the opposing managers. After a long discussion they ordered the cover off and the warmups started. The game got under way 47 minutes late.

It was played under lights from the very start. In the late innings a fog rolled in. Both teams played remarkably good ball under the circumstances but it was not one of those thrillers you will tell to your grandchildren.

The Dodgers, Los Angeles variety, did better than the old Brooklyn brand ever did in the first game of the playoff. The Braves lost in two straight to St. Louis in 1946 and dropped the first to the New York Giants in 1951 before finally being finally knocked out in the third game by Bobby Thomson's "miracle" homer.

Now they go home to a tumultuous greeting at the big Coliseum with its 250-foot left field fence where the final game or games will be played Tuesday and Wednesday.

And they did it without their best hitter, Duke Snider, who was on the bench with a damaged knee. He was available only for pinch hitting duty if needed.

Science Fair Committee Plans Event

SCIENCE students in the county's junior and senior high schools were urged last night to start work now on their projects for the Monroe County Science Fair next Spring.

The suggestion was sounded by the Science Fair Committee at its first meeting of the new school term at The Daily Record Office.

Last year, it was recalled, some of the pupils failed to complete their projects in time for the fair, and the suggestion was offered in the hopes of avoiding a recurrence. Among those which did not make the deadline were a number of projects which officials said would have rated high on the list of prize winners.

George Learn, of Pocono Township School, conducted the meeting, his first since being elected president of the committee. Eleven members attended.

The fair will be held March 23-25, possibly in the East (Please Turn To Page Three)

Khrushchev Feels Trip Successful

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev, beaming at a hero's welcome home Monday, said his American trip was very successful. He told the Soviet people President Eisenhower is a man of peace with the backing of all but a small minority of Americans.

The Soviet Premier noted instances of hostility and complained again of security measures that caused him to threaten in Los Angeles to cut short his tour, but good feeling was the keynote of his report.

Khrushchev praised Eisenhower before a packed homecoming rally at the Moscow Sports Palace—broadcast throughout the Union—for "his statesmanship, wisdom and courage in judging the world situation." The Premier could hardly say enough nice things about the U. S. President. He announced that the President and his family will make the return visit to Moscow next year in late May or early June, the beginning of spring weather here.

"I got the impression that Eisenhower sincerely wants to liquidate the cold war and establish normal relations between our countries," Khrushchev said. "Long live American-Soviet friendship!" he shouted amid tumultuous cheers and applause.

Honor Guest
He grabbed a hand of the U. S. charge d'affaires, Edward L. Freers, an honor guest beside him on the platform, and lifted their linked arms. This set off an ovation.

The American diplomat was the only foreigner seated in the front row.

The Premier was smiling and alert as he stepped from the plane which whisked him the 5,160 miles from Washington in 10 hours and 28 minutes.

"Okay," he called out to English to the crowd of perhaps 900 who greeted him.

The day was the first bright and sunny one here since Khrushchev's departure two weeks ago. More than 100,000 Moscovites lined the broad street on Lenin Hill to give him a hero's welcome as he drove to the Sports Palace.

Deep Snow Hits Rockies

By The Associated Press
A WHISTLING storm pelted the central Rockies with deep snow and plunging temperatures Monday while intermittent rains and rising winds along the Georgia-South Carolina coast argued the approach of hurricane Gracie.

Five persons were reported missing as 30-to-40-miles-an-hour winds pushed the chilling western storm southward toward the Great Plains.

Snow and rain pelted the region from western Montana into central Colorado and kept mid-day temperatures in the 30s and 40s. The mercury early Monday settled to one above zero at Fraser, Colo., just west of the Continental Divide in northern Colorado.

Gracie Gains New Fury On Trip North

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—Increasing winds and rain squalls lashed the South Carolina-Georgia coastline Monday night as hurricane Gracie continued her steady course landward. Her gale-force winds were offshore.

With her howling winds of 125 miles per hour expected to churn up high tides and waves of dangerous proportions, residents along the coast from Savannah, Ga., to the Myrtle Beach-Georgetown, S. C., area were ordered evacuated. The full force of the storm was expected Tuesday morning.

Particular Danger
There was particular danger to island residents and those in low level areas and the Weather Bureau advised them to evacuate before escape routes were cut off.

"This is an extremely dangerous hurricane and all safety precautions should be rushed to completion before midnight if loss of life is to be avoided and destruction of property kept to a minimum," the Weather Bureau warned.

At 9 p.m. the Weather Bureau said Gracie was centered 195 miles southeast of Charleston. Gale force winds of 40 m.p.h. were expected to strike the coast during the night, followed by the full force of the severe storm which was expected to hit sometime Tuesday morning in a 100-mile area from Savannah to Charleston.

Meanwhile, the Weather Bureau reported a new hurricane called Hannah, was spotted 1,500 miles in the Atlantic due east of Miami.

The Weather Bureau warned that Gracie's storm tides and high seas would flood coastal lands in the area to heights of 8 to 11 feet or more above normal levels. Smashing waves 20 feet high were forecast.

The first signs of the storm came with intermittent rains and there was a noticeable increase in winds from the hurricane located at 5 p.m. about 230 miles southeast of Charleston, moving west-northwest and northwest at 12 m.p.h.

Hunter Planes
Hurricane hunter planes reported winds in the center of the storm at 125 m.p.h. with hurricane force winds — 75 m.p.h. or more — extending outward 100 miles in the north-east semicircle and 50 miles to the southeast. Leading the advance were gale force winds of 40 m.p.h. extending about 200 miles in the northwest semicircle and 125 to the southeast.

Applications Near Ready For Bonus

Applications will not be available until Thursday, Earl R. Palmer, post service officer emphasized. Information as to the proper papers needed for the bonus will also be available at the post, Palmer said.

Typhoon's Death Toll May Hit 3,400 Persons In Japan

NAGOYA, Japan (AP) — They call this, Japan's third largest city, a "city of the dead" after the savage blow struck by Typhoon Vera and it will be, for 1,000 bodies may lie in the city's wilderness of debris.

The City Assembly said at an emergency meeting Monday that at least a thousand persons are believed to have perished. This is far beyond the 170 confirmed casualties, but assemblymen said their figure was on the conservative side.

If confirmed, this would make the typhoon that raged across Japan last weekend the deadliest of modern times. It would push the dead or missing total to around 3,400. The worst previous typhoon killed 3,066 persons in 1931.

It will take time to find out how accurate the figures are because the havoc wrought is almost unbelievable.

East Stroudsburg Problem

Cesspool Troubles Prove Costly

By Don Allen
TO SOME residents of East Stroudsburg, a borough sewer system is a must. And most members of the borough's Board of Health would probably agree.

Lester G. Abelloff of 245 Washington St. has strong opinions on the subject — and with a reason.

He purchased a property on Ransberry Ave. as a residence for one of his mechanics. It has a cesspool as many homes in the borough do.

"I don't know exactly how much I've spent up there but it's enough to pay for city sewers for the next 20 years," Abelloff said recently.

It seems the cesspool is an old one and there is no room on the property to construct another one.

"We keep pumping it out, but the water backs right into it," Abelloff said. "We can pump out the septic tank in the morning and it'll be filled up again by night. As far as I'm concerned, in that area a borough sewer system is a must."

The board of health is also concerned with the situation. Since Jan. 1 of this year, it has received 40 complaints of overflow from sewers.

The complaints, usually listing sewage flowing through the streets, come from Ransberry, N. Courtland, Grandview, Grove, Gilbert, N. Kistler, Lackawanna, Brown, Penn, Elk, Prospect, Brodhead, Ana-

Eisenhower Hints Parley Near Certain

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said Monday his secret talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev about Berlin's future led to enough progress to wipe out many of his objections to a summit conference.

At a special new conference, Eisenhower strongly hinted a top level East-West parley is now virtually certain — but not until he consults with British, French, West German and other allied leaders.

The President said that Khrushchev—who once had given the West six months to get out of West Berlin — has now agreed there will be no deadline for East-West negotiations to meet in seeking a peaceful settlement.

Eisenhower said Khrushchev has agreed these talks should not be "unnecessarily or unduly extended." He did not explain whether this meant negotiations would have days, weeks or months to talk.

"No one is under duress," Eisenhower said, when asked whether Khrushchev promised to ease pressure on the German capital.

"No one is under any kind of threat and, as a matter of fact, he stated emphatically that never had he any intention to give anything that was to be interpreted as duress or compulsion."

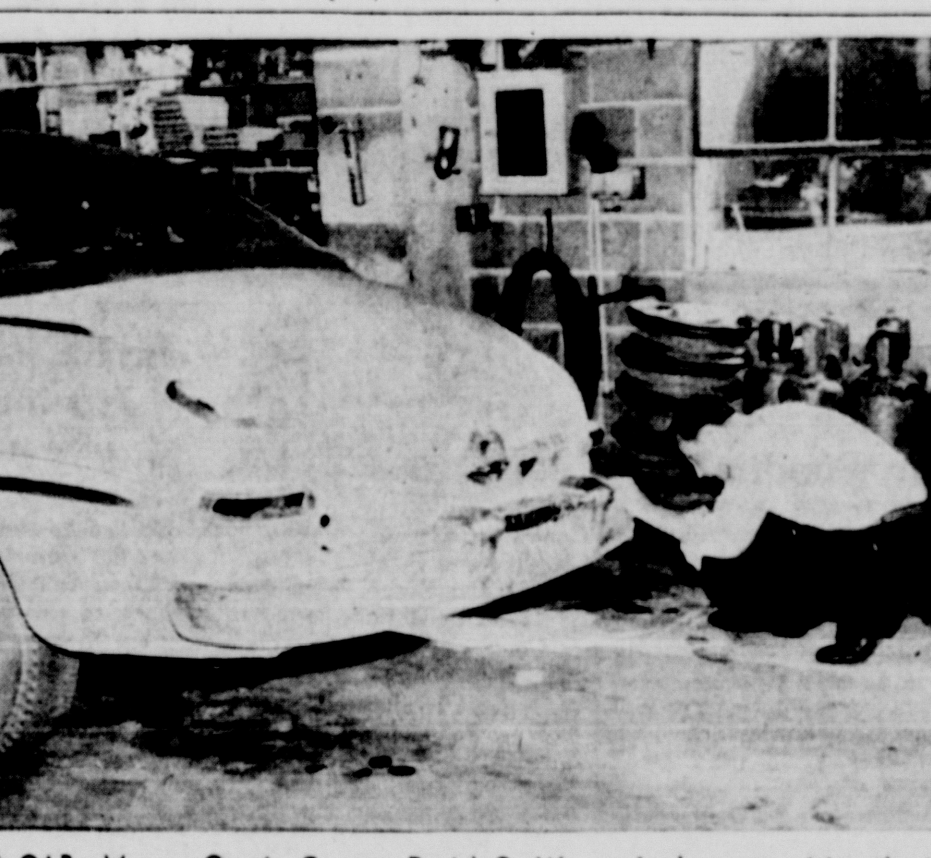

And Monday, back in Moscow, Khrushchev shouted to loud applause at a homecoming rally: "Long live American-Soviet friendship!"

Eisenhower set off a diplomatic furor by telling newsmen he could not guarantee that any settlement would uphold the previous vows to protect the freedom of West Berliners and to guard allied rights.

Within minutes, however, the White House issued a special statement insisting this answer "did not mean that the freedom of the people of West Berlin was going to be abandoned or that allied rights were going to be abandoned by any unilateral action."

U. S. To Blast Clock Missile In November

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott
Daily Record Columnists
WASHINGTON — The United States will attempt to orbit a satellite around the sun in November.

The shot was originally planned to coincide with President Eisenhower's visit to the Soviet Union in November. But the President has now decided to visit Russia in the Spring.

The plan is to launch Pioneer V to carry an atomic clock into the solar system for the first time.

Information from this nuclear timepiece is to be relayed back to earth by radios powered by solar batteries capable of transmitting signals more than 50,000,000 (million) miles.

Our scientists believe that the shot will give the U. S. a major first in our space race with Russia. The satellite is designed to furnish the world with the first important scientific information from the solar system.

There is even genuine hope among our scientists that data relayed from the atomic clock will give proof of Dr. Albert Einstein's theory of relativity — especially, his contention that time is a dimension that we can travel through.

Both Russia and the U. S. already have orbited the sun with satellites. Red scientists did it first with Mecha (Lunik 1) last January.

We followed with Pioneer IV in March. But neither satellite carried the scientific equipment and radio to relay information from the solar system. Signals from these satellites gave out before missiles reached 100,000 miles into space.

Pioneer V is designed to transmit information indefinitely as it circles the sun and comes within a 50,000,000 mile radius of the earth.

Decision Made At Coroner's Hearing

By Robert Stewart
A SIX-MAN coroner's jury yesterday exonerated Theodore R. Binkley, 27, of Pocono Summit, of any complicity in the death of Carl M. "Corky" Smith in the aftermath of an auto wreck Saturday morning.

Binkley will be given a hearing at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday on a charge of hit-run driving still pending in the case. It will be before Justice of the Peace John C. Foelker.

Binkley, visibly nervous, appeared at yesterday's hearing, but left the room, on the second floor of the Stroudsburg Municipal Building, about midway through the proceedings.

He was accompanied by his mother, who whispered "Thank God" after Coroner Daniel G. Warner announced the jury's verdict.

Binkley had spent three years at White Hill Reformatory, Camp Hill, for larceny after being convicted of breaking into railroad freight cars. He was released recently.

The inquest opened when Warner instructed the jurors to find the cause of death, as well as the person or persons committing it.

Robert Redzig, Stroudsburg police officer, was the first person to testify, and he related receiving a call at 3:03 a.m. concerning the accident at the intersection of Ninth and Monroe Sts., and on his arrival found Ralph Carter, the injured passenger.

Smith's body, Redzig said, was lying in the center of the road on its back. Redzig said Officer Charles MacDonald, of East Stroudsburg Police, and Trooper Donald Goode, who was off duty at the time from the Stroudsburg State Police, also assisted in the case.

Redzig said Smith's body was removed by Lanterman's Funeral Home to the hospital for an autopsy.

The next witness to testify was Dr. M. J. Leitner, pathologist at Monroe County General Hospital, who said he performed an autopsy on Smith at 10 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 26.

Dr. Leitner said Smith died from a crushing fracture of the skull. In addition, there were multiple abrasions of the body and a fracture of the left shoulder. There were no injuries internally, Dr. Leitner said.

It was at this point that Coroner Warner tried to pin Dr. Leitner down as to whether or not it could have been the wheels of the second car which had struck Smith's head, but Dr. Leitner would only state that certain marks indicated that the fracture could have resulted from something moving.

Alexander Sweeney, one of the jurors, asked Dr. Leitner if the injury could have been the result of falling on the road, and the physician replied it could have.

Next to testify was Ralph Carter, a passenger in the auto the night of the accident.

Carter said he and Prescott had gone to the Blue Trumpet Inn on Route 611, had met Smith, and had a drink or so and offered Smith a ride back to Stroudsburg. Carter said Smith had loaned his car to a friend, and Prescott said he could pick up the car the next day if he rode back to town with him and Carter.

Carter said Prescott was driving extremely fast toward Stroudsburg, but how fast he could not tell since the speedometer in the 1959 Austin-Healey was not working.

Prescott failed to negotiate the turn on Ninth St., Carter said, and both his passengers, Carter in the middle and Smith on the outside, had yelled to him to slow down.

Carter said he must have been unconscious for a period of time and when he did get up from the gutter in which he landed after the car struck, people were approaching the car.

Point Of Impact
He said he thought the point of impact was the curb.

Carter said he went over to Smith's body first and felt for a pulse and found none. Then he saw Prescott near the curb, he said, and went over and held

Community Chest Board Of Directors Warn One Agency Of Ruling On Private Drives

THE BOARD of Directors of Monroe County Community Chest last night condemned one of the member agencies for carrying out an independent campaign against its oral agreement with the board.

The directors will send a private warning to the agency which has been reportedly carrying on a membership drive since July 15. The agency had raised $443 in membership fees as of Aug. 24, executive secretary Miss Ethel West said.

A suggestion to reduce the agency's Chest quota by the amount its campaign gains didn't get beyond the discussion stage.

To prevent such future troubles the directors voted that all its agencies will be required to sign written contracts consistent with the by-laws of the Community Chest. These contracts will be renewed every year.

The by-laws state that no member agency can raise money independently of the Chest without the consent of the directors.

The directors said they will turn down the expected request by a second agency to hold its own campaign.

"The agencies either hurt us or help us," President S. Clair Smith said. "They can't help us by having other campaigns."

He told the other directors that the first agency in question went ahead with its own campaign plans after the Chest board informed it such a step was against the wishes of Community Chest.

Officials To View Water System

Association Sets Rates For Insurance

THE Middle Department Assn. of Fire Underwriters will inspect Stroudsburg's new water system in the near future, Stroudsburg Municipal Authority was told last night.

Harold E. Snyder, borough manager, reported receipt of a letter from the association, indicating it will begin its inspection at the end of this month.

The association establishes fire insurance rates for business and residential areas. Part of its rate schedule is based upon water pressure in fire hydrants.

Letter Directed

The authority directed that a letter be sent the Stroudsburg Fire Department, requesting its cooperation in testing fire hydrants.

The action was taken after a complaint was relayed to William A. Curnow, water department manager, during the meeting to the effect that water in the west end of the borough was being contaminated by hydrant testing.

Curnow said he had asked the department to notify him 24 hours in advance of any testing. He said he has been flushing mains in the central part of the borough in anticipation of the tests, but said lines in the west end have not yet been flushed.

The authority pointed out that its rules and regulations require advance notice before opening any hydrant except in case of emergency.

The authority tabled until its next meeting a recommendation by Albright and Friel, its consulting engineers, for a $190,000 insurance policy on its new filter plant.

The action was taken to permit Snyder to review existing borough policies before the authority makes a decision on which firms will get the new insurance.

In other action, the authority: Awarded to Shalmon Industries, Inc., Phillipsburg, N. J., the contract for 1,000 feet of six inch cast iron pipe at a bid of $2,104 a foot. The only other bidder was R. G. Wood Co. at $2,113 and United States Pipe and Foundry at $2,125.

Pipe Purchase

Authorized Curnow to purchase 600 feet of four-inch pipe for use in the water system. It does not require bidding as the amount involved is less than $1,000.

Directed Curnow and Edward C. Hess, borough engineer, to prepare location and relocation maps for lines which will have to be moved as the result of the construction of the second phase of the Stroudsburg Thruway. The state will reimburse the authority for the relocation.

Authorized payment of $1,911 to Henkels and McCoy, Inc., for construction of a by-pass around the Dreher Ave. reservoir.

Authorized investment of $47,250 from the debt service reserve fund and $20,000 from the maintenance reserve fund in short term U. S. government securities.

Approved expenditure of $3,500 for parts for a link belt in primary settling tanks of the sewage system and $8,992 for a Perth gas circulator for the sewer digester to brake up sludge.

Curnow reported use of 1,600,000 gallons of water every 24 hours last month and 1,300,000 gallons this month.

The third Thursday of every month was set as the date for the regular meetings. The next meeting is scheduled for Oct. 13 at 8 p. m.

up his head to keep the blood from flowing into the mouth since Prescott was coughing.

It was at that moment, Carter said, that he saw a car approaching, and while it was not speeding, it slowed down slightly before running over Smith's body.

Carter then described the car as a 1949 or 1950 green Mercury.

Charles Cincotta, jury foreman, then asked Carter if the boys, all under age, had purchased their beer at the Blue Trumpet and he replied they had.

The third witness was John Banks, of Stroudsburg, who said he was approaching the accident scene and saw a man running back and forth on Ninth St.

He saw the two bodies in the street, and his first thought, he said, was to stop traffic. He stopped and looked at Smith, lying in the middle of the street, and testified to the best of his knowledge that Smith was not alive at that time.

He then went toward Main St. to halt traffic and saw a car approaching. He ran toward the car, he said, and it swerved out past him and kept moving after it ran over the body in the street.

Banks said the right front wheel passed over the body.

Fourth Witness

Joe DeVivo was the fourth witness to testify, and he said the first time he looked from his window on the accident scene Smith was laying on his face, but the second time the body was on its back.

Richard Wolbert, of the Stroudsburg Police, then testified that he received a call from Trooper Peter Sabinsky, of the Mount Pocono State Police station, who was bringing Binkley in to Stroudsburg on Saturday night.

Wolbert then said he was instructed by Warner to go to Pocono Summit and get evidence from the Binkley auto in addition to pictures of the car and chassis.

Following Wolbert's statement the jury went into private session to weigh the testimony.

Members of the jury were Charles Cincotta, Stroudsburg; Lester Abelloff, East Stroudsburg; Theodore Stevens, Stroudsburg; Forrest Warner, Stroudsburg; Alexander Sweeney, Stroudsburg, and John McConnell, Stroudsburg RD 5.

The death toll on Monroe County highways thus far this year has been set at 13 by Warner.

Testimony To Continue In Aggravated Assault Case

MRS. KATHRYN Bayliss will resume the stand this morning in Monroe County Court as a defense witness in the trial of her husband, Charles, charged with aggravated assault and battery.

Bayliss, 44, a resident of Canadensis, is on trial in the shotgun wounding of Lamar Price, 29, also of Canadensis, last March 12.

Price was wounded in the left ankle. He was treated by Dr. Harold A. Tattersall, of Mountainhome, and taken to Monroe County General Hospital. He has since recovered.

Mrs. Bayliss testified yesterday that she married Bayliss on May 21 of this year and had been engaged to her husband since Aug. 5 last year.

She testified she had known Price about two years and in answer to questions by Defense Attorney Edwin Krawitz said she knew his reputation for peacefulness, being law abiding and being disorderly and quarrelsome was "very bad."

She testified that Price was a frequent visitor at the Bayliss home.

She showed some confusion over the date of the shooting, insisting that it happened on a Saturday—which would have been March 14—despite earlier testimony that the incident occurred on March 12.

Earlier in the afternoon session, Cpl. Joseph DiPietro of the Mount Pocono barracks of the State Police testified that Bayliss admitted the shooting when he arrived at the Bayliss home.

"I should have killed him," DiPietro quoted Bayliss as telling him. DiPietro testified that Bayliss told him that he (Bayliss) went up stairs and found Price "raping a member of his household."

Individuals Treated At Dispensary

WILLIS Smith, East Stroudsburg, was working on his car when he cut his left thumb with a saw. The laceration was stitched up at the Monroe County General Hospital Dispensary.

Ronald Leister, Boyertown, injured his thumb with a saw too—an electric one. An examination at the dispensary showed a laceration and a fracture.

Two football players were hurt. Donald Slicker, Allentown, was treated for a laceration of the forehead after he was injured while playing for East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. Robert Traves, Portland, a 14-year-old Bangor Area Joint High School player, fractured his right shoulder while on the football field.

Dale Kresge, age four, Saylorsburg, lacerated his head when he fell. Frank Coco, age three, Stroudsburg, fell over a guide wire and injured his leg. The cut required stitches.

John Ogden, age six, East Stroudsburg, was cut with a sickle just below his right knee. Stitches were required.

Bernardine Turtzo, Marshalls Creek, was treated for a puncture wound after he stepped on a rusty nail.

Dream Coming True

Years of planning on the part of the Pocono Catholic Missions reached a climax Sunday when ground was broken near Cresco for a new Catholic elementary and high school and a convent.

"A dream rapidly coming true" is the way one priest described brief ceremonies marking the occasion. The real climax will come, of course, when the new buildings are completed some months hence.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. C. A. McHugh, pastor of the missions, turned the first spade of dirt and envisioned the school as a place where the discipline of the Christ child to his adopted parents will be kept in the classroom.

Keynote of the ground-breaking was expressed by another clergyman when he said the ceremonies represented the "planting of a parish tree of Catholic education."

Catholic residents of the county have looked forward for a number of years to the construction of a high school to supplement the instruction Catholic children now received at St. Matthew's Parochial School.

The new school to be built on a hill overlooking Paradise Valley will be the realization of that dream. Pocono Catholic Missions is to be congratulated for the foresight and initiative its leaders and members have shown in laying the groundwork for an educational institution which will be a credit, we are confident, to the entire Pocono Mountains region.

Calls For Relaxing Of Blue Law

Any out-of-state visitors who by choice or circumstance have spent a week end in Pennsylvania, need no special introduction to the Commonwealth's 1794 Blue Laws.

These laws, brought to this country by the early settlers from England, are no longer intact or strictly enforced, but many of them remain as statutes although they are primitive and obsolete as they lie mouldering in their antiquity to the detriment of progress.

The Blue Laws as we know them receive every degree of disrespect from minor infractions to bold nullification . . . a reflection on present day law and order.

Sunday is a day of Sanctity and should be respected as a day of rest and religious meditation but in the 165 years since the Blue Laws were passed spiritual consciousness has changed to harmonize with physical and mental relaxation to permit diversions unlawful under the code and without desecration of the Sabbath day or making it less moral.

At intervals over the years some of the restrictions imposed by the Puritans have been relaxed permitting Sunday baseball after 2 p.m., movies, and other diversions in keeping with 20th Century living.

Hotels in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia have sponsored a bill now pending in The Legislature which would permit them to serve alcoholic beverages on Sunday between the hours of 1 p.m. and 10 p.m. after a successful referendum vote of the people in each of the two cities. This is a fair proposition and in the best tradition of our freedom of choice which permits majority rule.

At least Pennsylvania's hotels should be permitted an equal opportunity to compete with private clubs. Hotels here and in Philadelphia are usually referred to as "weekend graveyards" while establishments in neighboring states enjoy a land office business.

Other factors for the solons to ponder are loss of tax money that would be paid the State; unemployment of hotel workers; loss of conventions and an adverse effect on transportation as well as "hold over" business for department stores, independent shops, restaurants and so on to the tune of between 15 and 20 million dollars a year. This money now is gathered up in Ohio, New Jersey, New York, the District of Columbia and others. Some of the cash belongs in Pennsylvania—let's keep as much here as possible.

The Pennsylvania Story

Showdown Battle

By Mason Denison

Harriest about — If there was any doubt about it before — the gauntlet now quite definitely has been thrown down on Capitol Hill. Controlling Senate Republicans made the decisive move when they disclosed their intent of knocking some $58 million from the Democratic Lawrence Administration's $1.7 billion General Fund Budget.

That the challenge was quickly picked up by the Administration in itself did not come as a surprise on Capitol Hill.

What is surprising to many is the speed, thoroughness and vociferous manner with which the Administration struck back — an overnight departure from the almost gentle, quiescent mood that heretofore had marked the nine-month tenure of the Democratic Administration.

In all of this two points stand out in Pennsylvania's billion dollar budget race:

(1) Senate Republicans in announcing their budget cutting intentions not only struck a determined defensive stance — but some GOP legislative leaders have gone so far as to insist that the $58 million cutback should be greater;

(2) Governor Lawrence and Administration Democrats who by two legislative whisks control the House of Representatives, have served notice that they will not only fight the proposed cuts — but will not accept them and will insist on adoption of the budget offered by the Administration.

Under these circumstances one of the two ultimately most give in — and therein lies the crux of the upcoming battle.

Either legislative Republicans will be forced to back down, or the Democratic Lawrence Administration will have to drop back from its present adamant, no-give line. All of which of course raises the spectre of a repeat of the clobbering, gut-chinned, deadlocked 1955-56 legislative session — which broke all records for duration in Pennsylvania's legislative history as it chugged along for 17 months.

The setting is almost identical — with one basic difference. In 1955 as this year a Democratic Governor faced a politically split Legislature — with the House in Administration hands and the Senate in the firm grip of anti-administration Republicans.

Then as now the nub of difference was budgetary financing.

However in 1955 the big storm was whether a sales tax (favored by Senate Republicans) or an income tax (plugged by Democrats) should form the base for Pennsylvania's tax program.

In the end the sales tax and Senate Republicans emerged the winner.

Today—and this is the basic difference from the struggle four years ago — the contest is not one centering around what type of tax program should be adopted (that issue now has been primarily settled) but solely whether the Governor's $1.7 billion General Fund Budget can or should be cut by $58 million as now proposed by Senate Republicans.

That today is the issue facing Pennsylvania's lawmakers. Both sides are adamant. Ultimately either Republicans or Democrats will have to give in. Meanwhile the gauntlet has been thrown down on Capitol Hill — with a vengeance.

Summarizing Soviet Visit

The visit of Khrushchev to the United States is important and sensational only because the United States and Soviet Russia were on the brink of the most devastating war in human history.

Both nations are afraid of the consequences of war. Neither nation has a formula for preventing a war from taking place.

It is obvious that Nikita Khrushchev not only had no understanding of the United States and the peculiarities of the American way of life, but that he underestimated American strength and the unique system of government that is ours which does not make a distinction between government and people.

Perhaps even in the short period that he has been in this country, he has come to have a better appreciation of what the United States is.

Certainly Henry Cabot Lodge, whom Khrushchev calls "Capitalist," must have done an excellent job of clarification during the long periods of time that they spent together.

On the other hand, on the brink of a war which Americans do not want and which most Americans believed Khrushchev did want, American relationships with Soviet Russia were not rational. They blew too hot or too cold.

We try to convert the Russians to what we call democracy and which they regard as monopolistic capitalism. Having failed in the Cold War, many Americans came to believe that we could win the Russian people to the American side by a display of consumers' goods, which is historically incorrect.

We need to ask ourselves why Khrushchev chose this particular moment to cut the Gordian knot. Actually, he has been begging for an invitation to come to this country since he acceded to power. The invitation was not forthcoming for many good and bad reasons.

Before the Nixon visit to Moscow, the decision was made to invite him. In fact, it could not have been otherwise after the visits of Mikoyan and Kozlov; the insult would have been too pointed.

One of the results of the visit will undoubtedly be that many conferences will take place before there is a war. Khrushchev is apparently a man of volatile nature, but his anger subsides.

War would destroy not only his regime but the Soviet Universal State of which he is the trustee. He prefers conferences and waiting on history. That can take a very long time and many changes may occur while he is waiting.

At the United Nations, he made his plea for Red China. It was a mild plea and will undoubtedly be so regarded in Peking. There was not a word of threat. The subsequent attempt of India and Nepal to reopen the Red China question was defeated and the subject is closed for this year.

To a Chinese, Khrushchev lost face at the United Nations. He, one of the mightiest rulers in all the world, personally pleaded for Red China's admission and was turned down. To Mao Tse-tung, Khrushchev's trip was fruitless.

However, Red China is not yet ready to raise the question of a boundary line that has at no time in history been settled. The line between China and Russia that runs for thousands of miles. Red China has raised the issue of the boundary between China and India and that can unsettle the whole of Asia is pursued.

If the Chien Lung line holds to the south and west, why not to the north? And in the north, it lies deep in Russian territory.

Chinese are usually suspicious and they have a history of prolonged suspicion of Russia, both Czarist and Communist. Even Sun Yat-sen, the founder of the Republic of China, was fearful of dealing with the Russians. He tried to go American aid for his revolution; when that failed he turned to General Ludendorff and hoped to get German aid.

Lenin invited Dr. Sun to come to Russia but Sun did not go. Nevertheless, Russia power prevailed. Today, Red China is part of the Soviet Universal State, but not of Soviet Russia. The difference is enormous.

The suspicion of Russia is bound to be enhanced by Khrushchev's travelling back and forth between the United States and Soviet Russia, as apparently he hopes to do. Mao Tse-tung has never been to the United States. He does not understand the American people at all. He may even not understand the Russians since Stalin died.

Bitter Mayoralty Fight

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

San Francisco, Cal. — You would never know it from outward appearances, but this glamorous metropolis is in the midst of an acrimonious mayoralty fight.

But that and just about everything else have been blacked-out by the frantic absorption in the Giants' futile last ditch pennant scramble.

Virtually every day, Mayor George Christopher, seeking a second term, and his rival, Tax Assessor Russell Wolden, have been exchanging blistering recriminations and accusations — with no more effect on the electorate than buckshot against a tank.

Now that the baseball frenzy has subsided, voter interest in the bitter mayoralty race is due to revive. In preparation for that, the two bitter candidates have gotten ready to flay one another with fire and brimstone. They and their managers are making no bones of that.

They clearly intend to make up in fury for loss in time.

So far, Christopher definitely has the edge.

Barring some upset in the remaining weeks of this sizzling hassle, the Greek-born dairyman will be reelected in November by a good margin. Several recent polls and other authoritative sources indicate that.

However, San Francisco politics are volatile, and Wolden is a tough, long-experienced and turbulent campaigner. Also, he has an equally aggressive manager and high-powered publicity staff.

In this kind of explosive situation there is always the possibility of a jolting surprise. The chances are against it, but it could happen. Christopher's apparent lead is due primarily to Wolden's various "insufficiencies" and not to Christopher's peculiar popularity or strength.

The ambitious mayor has more at stake in this election than another term. California politics has a way of exploding into the national scene.

It's an open secret Christopher would love to be governor or senator.

He tried for the Senate in 1958, and appeared to have a good chance for the Republican nomination until the famous "switcheroo," in which former Governor Goodwin Knight suddenly shifted from running to succeed himself to opposing Christopher for the seat being given up by former Senator William Knowland.

Christopher bellowed "foul" and "double-cross." But to no avail. Knight licked him handily, only to be later overwhelmingly defeated by Democrat Clair Engle.

That painful setback has not been forgotten or forgiven by Christopher. More than ever he yearns for loftier political thrones.

Politics — Republican National Chairman Thurston B. Morton is making a four-day tour of California to help state GOP leaders to launch a drive for $250,000 to finance a whirlwind campaign next year to regain control of the State Assembly and to recapture congressional seats lost in 1958.

Climax of this fund drive will be a $100-a-plate dinner, on October 28, addressed by Defense Secretary McElroy.

Adlai Stevenson's repeated emphatic disclaimers of being a 1960 candidate are not discouraging his idolators. Latest of them to insist on Stevenson's making a third try for the White House is Arthur Johnson, San Jose, Cal., attorney, who has announced a plan for a nationwide drive to obtain 5,000,000 signatures on petitions calling for a "draft" of Stevenson. According to Johnson, he already has more than 5,000 signers in California, Nevada, Utah, Oregon and Idaho, 60 of them mayors.

California Republican Chairman George Milias is proposing a "gigantic rally" in the state next summer to be addressed by President Eisenhower. It would be an "all-Western" affair, and presumably would offset the Democrats' presidential convention in Los Angeles in July.

Several of Governor Edmund Brown's close assistants are strong for Senator Stuart Symington, Mo., for President. They are not saying that out loud, but it is no secret to Brown. . . . He is also aware that a leading booster for Senator John Kennedy, Mass., is Mrs. Eleanor Heller, former Democratic National Committeewoman, and wife of a San Francisco bank president.

Both Symington and Kennedy will spend some time in California next month. Symington is carefully denying any intention to "invade" Governor Brown's home territory. But Kennedy is frankly bent on sounding out sentiment on his chances to garner convention delegates. Chief events in this latest Kennedy swing will be a big reception in San Francisco by northern California Chairman Roger Kent, and a banquet in Los Angeles.

He Sure Overdid It

Dear Abby: My husband and I are both college graduates. Our business dealings are with rural people. My husband thinks he is a talker. I like to talk to them in order to be a "good fellow." It is disgusting to hear a college educated man say, "He don't, I ain't got nothing," and "He has did."

When we are out socially, my husband forgets and starts talking like a hick. This embarrasses me because I have the feeling that our friends think he doesn't know better.

We've had some heated arguments about this. Don't you think my husband is wrong for intentionally using bad grammar so these farmers won't think he is high hat?

DORA

Dear Abby: I have a terrible problem. I am 16 years old and have the most wonderful parents in the world. We are quite well off so there is no reason for me to have a problem like this.

My problem is that when I go somewhere, I just pick things up. I don't need these things and can't imagine why I take them. Even when I am at a friend's house I have the urge to take things. Is this normal for most teen-agers or not?

ASHAMED.

Dear Ashamed: This is not normal, and you are wise to be concerned. People who cannot resist the urge to take things whether they need them or not could be suffering from an illness. Consult a doctor who specializes in behavior problems. Your chances for overcoming your problem are good if you seek professional help early. Good luck.

Dear Abby: Do you feel a man should keep a picture of his deceased wife in the living room after he has remarried? I think he can remember her just as well with the picture in the drawer. I would appreciate seeing this in the paper answer and I would like a certain party to see it. Thank you.

STEADY READER

Dear Reader: With all due respect to the deceased wife, her picture should not be displayed in the living room. Only the most insensitive "second wife" would be able to live with it comfortably. When a man remarries, he owes his second wife that comfort.

Dear Abby: Ever since I was in the Third grade I have had eye trouble. Next year I'll be in the Seventh grade and it seems to be getting worse.

We had an eye check-up in school and I got sent home with a letter saying that I should have an eye specialist check my eyes as soon as possible. That was last January. Every time I ask my mother when she is going to take me she says, "Don't worry, I will get you there." I don't want to upset her, but I would like to get this over with so I could see everything all the

Miss Nancy Carol Stout, Frederick Batchler Wed

Miss Nancy Carol Stout, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Stout of Pocono, became the bride of Frederick Batchler of Marshalls Creek at 2 o'clock September 19 before the candle-lit altar of St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Smithfield at Craigs Meadows. The single-ring nuptial rite was solemnized by Rev. William F. Wunder before a large congregation.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white brocade taffeta full-length gown. The gown was of sleeveless empire style with a sweetheart neckline and flared with a soft pleat at the back to form a cathedral length train. A matching jacket with long pointed sleeves and an elbow length veil, which fell from a tiara of flowers, completed her ensemble. She carried a white orchid set amidst baby's breath and set in miniature bows and satin streamers.

Miss Gladys Stout, sister of the bride, was maid-of-honor. She was attired in a princess style street-length dress of blue brocade taffeta with a matching veil and she carried a lavender orchid in a colonial bouquet. Mrs. Dorothy VanWhy of East Stroudsburg and Mrs. Kathryn Smith of Pocono were bridesmaids. They wore pink and yellow street length dresses respectively of princess style with matching veils and carried Colonial bouquets of purple orchids.

Harold Treible of Marshalls Creek served as best man and Peter VanWhy and Jack Batchler were ushers. Mrs. Ann Herman presided at the piano with a medley of wedding arias.

The bride's mother wore a street-length dress of blue and orchid print jersey with black accessories and an orchid corsage.

Just Between Us — —

—by Bobby Westbrook

Televisions and radios returned to normal yesterday, and stopped spouting Russian. But if you think tension had departed from the American home, you don't have a sports fan in the family.

Wonder they didn't get nervous indigestion from eating their supper between innings of the Milwaukee-Los Angeles game. But there is tension and tension. Holding your breath to see whether Khrushchev is working up to another tantrum has a far different effect from holding your breath to see whether that 400-foot drive to center field is going to clear the fence.

However, this post season race for the pennant probably is causing more re-adjustments in family schedules than the Russian visit. And mothers who don't know or care who is ahead, still have a stake in this tussle.

If Milwaukee wins, for instance, the games will be over earlier than if they're played in Los Angeles, which means that mothers will have a better chance of serving dinner at the table and getting the children at their homework earlier.

On the other hand, if it's in Los Angeles, they won't have their husbands littering up the living room all afternoon.

Well, if you can't lick 'em, join them and many a man may lose some of his enthusiasm for baseball when he finds his wife has even started preparations for dinner until the games are over.

All good things come to an end. Women's Days did—and so, I fear, did I. My whole being aches... and that includes my feet. They are shoeless at the moment, and pressed hard against the baseboard as I type. Believe me, I am not alone in my misery. Pearl Walters, our Women's Days president, who always looks fresh as a daisy, is beginning to wilt and even turn the color of her mint green "powder puff" costume.

The clowns in our drapery department who were bouncy and full of zest Friday morning at nine, are somewhat deflated this Saturday afternoon at 25 of 4. Edna Bush was almost too weary to chuckle today when one tiny customer said, "Oh look—a CLOWN. Can YOU do somersaults?" Edna says she couldn't do anything right now except continue in the spin she's been in since Mardi Gras Days dawned bright and sunny for our store.

I regret that our judges missed seeing some of the salespeople who looked wonderful on Friday. Both Gene Kautter and Howard Mills had the day off... but they were really sensational on the first of our Mardi Gras Days. Howard wore an American World War I uniform with a GERMAN helmet. I'm on the side of whoever's winning at the moment," he quipped when his co-workers razzed him. Gene wore an authentic Tyrolean, and was so cute, she had us all yodeling "oh-leh-LADY-oh!"

Women's Days are over. Mardi Gras Time is now faded into memory. But as always it was fun... and some of the most entertaining things that happened were so very amusing they couldn't be recounted in print. You had to BE there! Today we are all settling back again into our regular clothes and routine. But "Thanks for the Memory"—you the customers have helped us make another woman-sponsored promotion a great success. We hope you have enjoyed it as much as we.

Despite the excitement of Mardi Gras Time a group of us found a blessed half hour Saturday morning to listen to my taped interview with Dale Evans, brilliant wife of Western star Roy Rogers. There was quite a group in the advertising office, and for once all was quiet... the telephone didn't ring once, and no one dropped by for the copy of an ad, an engraving, or the request for a copy of the morning newspaper. All agreed it was quite a message delivered by this lovely lady of the TV and motion picture screens... on that should be heard by every Christian, particularly every parent.

Only one question arose: what is her son Tom doing today? Is he a minister? It was he who helped bring about his mother's conversion, and to whom she dedicated her second book, "To My Son."

I telephoned Dale and asked about Tom. "No, he isn't a minister," she said, "but an orchestra instructor in a large junior high school. He is, however, very interested in sacred music, and directs the choir in a Baptist church where his wife is organist. They have three children... one 6, one 8, and a baby too young to sing. However, the older children can sing in harmony with their parents, and the entire family sings together—principally religious music."

Needless to say, Dale was charming, gracious, and pleased to know that we in Stroudsburg are so interested in her husband and herself. She tells me time does not permit her to speak before many groups, except for an occasional rally near home—so I was indeed fortunate to procure our taped interview for our program at 9:45 this morning.

Dodgers Win From Braves, 3-2

Crowd Below Par As Rain Threatens

ONLY 18,297 fans braved the threat of rain and ignored the unusual comforts of home baseball television in the Milwaukee area. The crowd was about 32,000 below the standing room turnout that set a new County Stadium record Sunday when the Braves clinched a tie.

Among the onlookers was Al Lopez, manager of the Chicago White Sox, the American League champions, who will meet the winner of this series. If the Dodgers win two straight, the series will start Thursday in Chicago's Comiskey Park. If it goes three games the opener will be Friday.

The Dodgers got to Willey for a run in the first when Neal singled off Bobby Avila's glove, second on Wally Moon's infield out and scored on Larker's single to right.

The Dodgers scored in the first inning. Charlie Neal singled off Bobby Avila's glove, went to second on Wally Moon's grounder to the box and scored on Norm Larker's sharp single to right.

McDevitt struck out both Eddie Mathews and Joe Adcock as he set the Braves down without a threat.

Fast Hook
Milwaukee forced Manager Walter Alston to give starter McDevitt a fast hook in the second. The little lefty got one man out and then walked Johnny Logan on four pitches. Successive singles by Del Crandall and Billy Bruton drove home Logan with the tying run.

Sherry ran the count on Willey to 3-2 before the Milwaukee pitcher hit a ground ball to shortstop Maury Wills who juggled it for an error, loading the bases.

Force Willey
Wills came up with Avila's sharp grounder in time to force Willey at second but Crandall scored on the play. The run, of course, was charged to McDevitt who had put Crandall on base.

Los Angeles tied the score at 2-2 in the third. With one out, Neal collected his second straight single. Moon forced Neal, but Larker's second single, off Avila's glove, moved Moon to second. Gil Hodges' single put Eddie Mathews drove in Moon.

Two Singles
Sherry gave up two singles in the fourth but struck out Avila to end the threat. He walked Joe Adcock and allowed a single by pinch hitter Lee Maye in the fifth but made Logan ground out to end the inning. He retired nine in a row until Logan broke through for a two-out single in the eighth.

In the ninth, a fine catch by center-fielder Don Demeter, Snider's sub, saved the day. Demeter went back to the barrier, almost hidden in the fog, to drag down Bruton's 390-foot leadoff drive.

Fumbles Mark Eastburg Pen Argyl JV Encounter

TWO SCORING THREATS, one by each team, went by the boards yesterday as the East Stroudsburg High Junior Varsity and the Pen Argyl Juniors played to a scoreless tie on the local field.

East Stroudsburg's threat came in the first quarter when they went to the eight yard stripe and fumbled away their chance for glory.

Fumbling again showed up for the Pen Argyl eleven as they went to the Eastburg 15-yard-line in the third quarter and lost the ball.

Statistics for the game start out almost the same, but where East Stroudsburg showed their strength on the ground, Pen Argyl had the better of it through the air.

Each team had three fumbles, and all were recovered by the opposition.

The box score shows:

White Sox To Keep Sharp
CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox Monday worked out in Comiskey Park before watching the televised first play-off game between the Braves and Los Angeles Dodgers in Milwaukee.

"We'll have to work out every day," said Manager Al Lopez of the American League champions. "We'll have to try to keep sharp. The delay fouls up all our plans." Sox pitcher Early Wynn said: "All we want them to do over there in the other league is to decide who is the champion. We don't care who we play."

Game Fix Bill Sent To House
HARRISBURG (AP) — A bill proposing a maximum $500 fine for gambling on basketball games was introduced in the House Monday night.

Rep. Samuel W. Frank (D-Lehigh), a co-sponsor, said the proposal was prompted by a Philadelphia case in which the lawyer for a man accused of gambling on a basketball game claimed there is no law against it.

Frank said it was his understanding that the laws do provide for gambling on other sports, but not basketball.

Cosponsors of the bill included Rep. Frank P. Crossin (D-Luzerne), former University of Pennsylvania and Philadelphia Warriors pro basketball star.

Advertise in The Daily Record.

INDEED SADDENED are we since learning of the unexpected death of Carl (Corky) Smith in an automobile mishap last Saturday morning.

It was only a few days ago we conversed with the former East Stroudsburg High football whiz and laid plans to have the ex-Cavalier enter East Stroudsburg State Teachers College in January.

Jack Gregory, head coach of football at ESSTC, also had a brief talk with Corky with hopes that Smith would enroll at the "Hill" institution sometime in the near future.

But this will never be now. What a loss it will be for ESSTC rooters never to be able to see Corky perform on the gridiron.

We remember a year ago when we presented Smith with a certificate of merit for gaining a place on the All-America Prep School Football Team. At that time we called him one of the greatest backs we ever had the privilege to cover over a 15-year period.

After careful consideration we'll go one better to say he was the finest halfback these eyes ever glimpsed on a scholastic gridiron.

Coached by Jack Kist at Eastburg, Smith had all the qualities a tutor looks for in a grid hopeful. Deceptive speed, ability to spin on a dime, power and wonderful coordination of mind and body were his main assets. He also was a strong defensive player.

Off hand we can remember the slim-hipped Cavalier back running for 11 touchdowns, seven of which were over 50 yards. We can remember when he played havoc with a Nazareth High team, loping off runs that brought the crowd to its feet countless times.

We also remember two years ago Thanksgiving morning when Corky put on one of the greatest one-boy exhibitions ever seen in a Stroudsburg High-East Stroudsburg Turkey Day classics. That A.M. Carl was Mr. East Stroudsburg football, tearing up the turf for more than 200 yards and driving the Mountaineer followers frantic with his near-perfect exhibition.

There were many other fine exploits in Corky's young life, like the time Kist brought a make-shift track team to a Lehigh-Northampton League meet and Carl ran the 100 yard dash in baseball shoes and finished third against a much more heralded field.

Corky was a shy, unassuming youth. One day dad or mother would be proud to call his own. When he had a job to do he did it quietly but more effectively than most lads. Like his coach Jack Kist said, "He was coachable and as a result aided himself tremendously by his untiring efforts to reach his goal."

It is indeed a shame that life has to be snuffed out of youth like Corky and his friend of that fateful day, Phelps Prescott. Why such things happened we'll never know. They certainly had a long way to go to obtain the fruitful things of life.

Today Corky will be laid to his final rest. Sorrowfully we offer our condolences to his family and close friends. This community indeed has lost an All-American Boy.

Braves Now Have To Battle From 'Back End' For Flag

MILWAUKEE (AP) — "We've been doing it from the back end all year long and now we have to keep doing it."

That was Milwaukee Manager Fred Haney's philosophical comment Monday after the Braves dropped a 3-2 decision to Los Angeles in the opener of the best-of-three series for the National League championship.

"It's been uphill for us just about all the way," the little skipper said in the dressing room.

"We're not quitting now. We're still thinking of coming back from Los Angeles as champions."

The Braves weren't so noisy and in such a joking frame of mind as before the game with the Dodgers. But they were far from discouraged.

"This is going to the end," said slugging third baseman Eddie Mathews. "It won't be able to go any farther. We'll just have to get the min the two games on the coast."

"We just got beat," Haney said with a faint smile. "You can't win ball games on six hits. We couldn't come up with the big one when we needed it."

PML To Hear Crowe At Fete

Grimm Is Happy With New Work

By Charles Chamberlain
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — "I'm as happy as a kid," said 61-year-old Charlie Grimm Monday as he succeeded Bob Scheffing as manager of the Chicago Cubs.

The resignation of Scheffing after three years as skipper and appointment of Grimm was announced by club president Phil Wrigley. The Cubs shared fifth place in the National League this season for the second straight year.

Grimm, who spends his spare time romping with his eight grandchildren and raising Shetland ponies on his farm near St. Louis, returned to the Cubs' managerial role for the third time.

He replaced Rogers Hornsby as Cubs manager on Aug. 4, 1932. He was succeeded by Gabby Hartnett on July 20, 1938. Grimm returned as manager on May 7, 1944, taking over from Jim Wilson. He was out again on June 10, 1949. Frankie Frisch replaced him.

Grimm guided the Cubs to pennants in 1932, 1935 and 1945.

After leaving the Cubs, Grimm succeeded Tommy Holmes as manager of the then Boston Braves on May 31, 1952. He went with them to Milwaukee and was replaced by Fred Haney on June 17, 1956. After that he returned to the Cubs, serving as vice president — a title he still will carry.

"Mr. Wrigley called me two days ago and asked if I would manage the team," said Grimm.

"I thought it over and gave him my answer last night. It's on a year-to-year basis with no contract—the usual practice of the Cubs."

"A manager's job is a treadmill to nowhere. But I am very happy to be back. Being a manager is my first love. Scheffing will stay with us in some capacity yet to be decided. I'll sit down with him after the World Series and talk over the whole Cub picture."

Scheffing said he was not unhappy.

"I don't know what my new job will be, but it will be a pretty good one," he said.

Hino Named Back Of Week In South

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Ed Hino, who guided George Washington to a come-from-behind, 18-14 victory over Boston University Friday night, was named Southern Conference player of the week Monday.

Hino, the Colonials' 5-10, 170-pound quarterback, hit on 8 of 16 passes, and two were pressure pitches in GW's late march for the winning touchdown.

The 20-year-old senior from Mahanoy City, Pa., first connected with end Bill Smythe on a 12-yard aerial that carried the Colonials to the BU 15. Then he used Smythe as his target again on a 30-yard pass to the Terrier 2.

From the 2, Hino handed off to fullback John Wilt for the decisive TD, then passed to Wilt for a two-point conversion.

Ex-Tennis Star Died Yesterday In New York
NEW YORK (AP) — Vincent (Vinnie) Richards, 56, the one-time boy wonder of tennis, died of a heart attack Monday night in Doctors Hospital.

Richards never won the national singles championship but he was one of the world's top players back in the William Bill Tilden era. In fact, he and the great Tilden played 1,002 matches and Richards won 502 of them.

He was tagged the boy wonder when at the age of 15 he teamed with Tilden to win the national doubles title in 1918. He and Tilden won it again in 1921 and 1922 and he paired with R. N. Williams to win it in 1925 and 1926.

For the last 20 years, Richards was vice president of the sports division of the Dunlop Tire and Rubber Co.

Sherry Learned To Throw Slider Pitch Last Winter

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Last winter 23-year-old Larry Sherry learned to throw a slider in Venezuela and Monday the Los Angeles Dodgers went one-up on the Milwaukee Braves in the National League playoff. And there's a connection.

Dodger Manager Walter Alston summoned Sherry from the bullpen in the second, with the Braves threatening, and the young right-hander shut out the defending champions on four hits the rest of the way. The slider was the big pitch.

Larry's older brother, Norm, who caught him at Spoken before the boys came up to Los Angeles, told the slider secret in the Dodger clubhouse. Larry was made into a pitcher by the baseball coach at Fairfax High School in Los Angeles, but he only threw fast balls, curves and a changeup.

Last winter, playing with Maracabo, he taught himself the slider, and perfected it at St. Paul this summer before he was called up from the American Association in July.

"It wasn't behaving for me all the way today," Larry said. "I started out all right, then I had some troubles with it in the middle innings. But it came back."

A Ridley cheerleader, Roberta L. Amodeo, 17, was cut on the head during the riot when she was hit by either a thrown bottle or rock.

Two Norristown boys were also injured.

Police rounded up 20 Norristown area students and charged them with disorderly conduct.

The melee began after Ridley won the football game 24-13. The Norristown students allegedly attacked the Ridley pupils as they boarded buses outside the stadium.

Puppet Class In Initial Session

THE puppet class of the Pocono Art Center, Sixth and Main St., Stroudsburg, held its first session of the Fall season last Saturday afternoon.

The class is under the direction of Barton Reinhart, who has been associated with all kinds of puppetry for many years, and is a class "A" member of the Puppeteers of America, a national organization whose object is the improvement and advancement of the art of puppetry.

The first session got underway with a general discussion of plans for this coming season. Ideas on an original play by the group was discussed by length. From this discussion, the title of a play was suggested by Freddie Ducklow. It is to be called "The Terrible Twins From Twentee."

Two-Headed Monster
The play will be the story of a two-headed monster from another planet "Twentee," located some 50 million miles between Venus and Mars. The two-headed monster from another world makes great plans to capture and kidnap Santa Claus, to prevent him from delivering his presents on Christmas Day.

Of course these plans are thwarted by sound thinking Earth people and animals who after much conflict set good all Santa free and on his way in time to make all the boys and girls happy on Christmas Day. Reinhart also had a group of his own puppets on display which he is planning to use in his own forthcoming production. From these he explained to the class how puppets were made. The Puppet Class meets every Saturday, from 2 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

FEDERAL Bureau of Investigation agents arrested a deserter from the United States Marine Corps in East Stroudsburg yesterday.

"NEVER TAKE COUNSEL OF YOUR FEARS"

—(Author's Name Below)—
Fear is a bad adviser, particularly when your health is concerned. Some people are afraid to consult a physician when sick. They fear they may have a serious trouble and are afraid to find out the truth.

A physician can soon relieve fear by accurately diagnosing the cause of the sickness, which then probably can be soon cured. Even if the sickness were one of the few incurables, an early diagnosis and proper treatment would make it easier to live an almost normal life. Depend on your physician and the medicine he will prescribe.

Why we built two cars for 1960... as different as night and day!

On October 2—for the first time in Chevrolet's 49-year history—you will be able to walk into your dealer's showroom and see two totally different kinds of cars. ■ One is the conventional 1960 Chevrolet, brand new in appearance and more beautifully refined and luxurious than you can imagine. ■ The other is unlike any car we or anybody else ever built—the revolutionary Corvair, with the engine in the rear where it belongs in a compact car. ■ We'd like to tell you why we built two such different cars, how we built them—and for whom we built them.

Why two kinds of cars? Because America itself has been going through some big changes in the past few years. Our cities have been straining at their seams. Traffic is jam-packed. Parking space is at a premium.

And our suburbs have spread like wildfire. People are living farther from their work, driving more miles on crowded streets. There is new leisure time—but more things to do. There's a new standard of living—and more need for two cars in the family garage.

In short, America's automobile needs have become so complex that no one kind of car can satisfy them completely. That is why we at Chevrolet, keeping tab on these trends, have had a revolutionary compact car in the planning stages for more than nine years undergoing revisions and refinements.

Consequently, when we decided three years ago to prepare for production of such a car we were ready to build it the way it should be built. There was no need for a hasty "crash" program that would create only a sawed-off version of a conventional-sized car.

That is why the two cars you will see in your dealer's showroom October 2 will be two entirely different kinds of cars—each one built the way it should be built, to best fill the needs it was meant to fill.

One is the conventional '60 Chevrolet—brand new in beauty, with new space inside, new spirit under the hood, a new feeling of sumptuousness and luxury never before attained by any car in its field. There is great V8 power, linked with new thrift, plus Chevrolet's superb (and America's most popular) 6-cylinder engine. It is a traditional car that comes even closer to perfection—in silence, in room, in ease of control, in velvety ride—than any car we have ever made.

The other is the Corvair, a compact car that is astonishingly different from anything ever built in this country. It has to be—because this is a six-passenger compact car, with a really remarkable performance... a car designed specifically to American standards of comfort, to American traffic needs.

The engine is in the rear. Among the basic advantages resulting from this engine location are better traction on a compact 108-inch wheel-base and a practically flat floor. But to be placed in the rear, the engine had to be ultra light and ultra short. So Corvair's engine is totally new—mostly aluminum and air cooled; it weighs about 40 per cent less than conventional engines. It is a "flat" horizontally opposed six—so it is only three cylinders long... and that leaves a lot more room for passengers.

Another weight saving: like modern airplanes, the Corvair has no frame; the body-shell supplies its great structural strength... it's a welded unit that is virtually squeak- and rattle-free.

The ride is fantastic. But to get it we had to design independent suspension at every wheel; conventional springing would give a compact car a choppy ride. Right now we'll make one prediction: the Corvair will be the only American compact car with this type of suspension system—the only one that rides so comfortably, holds the road so firmly and handles so beautifully.

Now there are two kinds of cars from Chevrolet—because it takes two kinds of cars to serve America's needs today. If you love luxury—the utmost in luxury—and if you want generous interior space, breath-taking performance, automatic drives and power assists—then the conventional '60 Chevrolet may be your choice.

If easy parking, traffic agility and utmost economy are high on your list—then you should seriously consider the Corvair. But the best thing to do is to look these two new cars over at your Chevrolet dealer's... take them out for a drive. It may be that the only logical choice for your family between two cars like this is—both. They make a perfect pair.

CHEVY MOUNTS THE ENGINE TO MATCH THE CAR

The front-mounted engine provides most efficient weight distribution in a conventional-sized Chevrolet, splitting the load almost evenly between front and rear wheels. Since a 4-door Chevy sedan weighs 3,550 lbs., this design puts adequate weight in the rear for sure-footed traction and road grip while giving a solid, consistently balanced big-car ride.

A rear-mounted engine gives the best weight distribution for a lighter, compact car like the 2,340-lb. Corvair. This design puts some 60% of the weight on the rear wheels for extra traction in cornering and driving on ice, mud or snow. Corvair, by avoiding nose-heaviness of front-engine compact cars, also gives you better riding, handling and braking characteristics.
